

A large grid of 20 rows and 100 columns of small, slanted, black-and-white line segments, resembling a barcode or a stylized text pattern. Each segment is a short, slanted line, and they are arranged in a regular, repeating pattern across the entire grid. The segments are black on a white background, and their orientation is consistent across all rows and columns.