

A dense, repeating pattern of small, stylized, slanted marks resembling a barcode or a series of short, slanted lines. The pattern consists of many rows of these marks, which are slightly irregular in their spacing and orientation, creating a textured, almost woven appearance. The marks are dark and set against a light background.

