

A large grid of 20 rows and 100 columns of small, slanted, black-and-white line segments, resembling a dense, textured pattern or a stylized representation of a surface. The segments are arranged in a regular, repeating pattern, creating a sense of depth and movement. The overall effect is a complex, abstract texture that changes as the viewer's perspective shifts.