

A dense, repeating pattern of small, stylized, slanted marks resembling a barcode or a series of short, slanted strokes. The pattern is composed of many small, slanted, black marks arranged in a regular, repeating sequence, creating a textured, almost woven appearance. The marks are slanted at approximately 45 degrees and are separated by small gaps, forming a continuous, rhythmic visual texture.