

A dense, repeating pattern of small, stylized, slanted characters or symbols, resembling a textured background or a decorative border. The pattern consists of many small, slanted, and slightly irregular characters that repeat across the entire image, creating a complex, woven texture. The characters are black on a white background, and the overall effect is that of a high-frequency, low-amplitude signal or a digital noise pattern.